Recognition of the CPRA 2016 Fellow Award

Summary and Background Information : The Fellow Award is the highest honor bestowed upon a Colorado Parks & Recreation Association (CPRA) member. Fellow Award nominees must have worked a minimum of eight years full time service in a leadership capacity, with a minimum of five years full time service in Colorado. Additionally, the nominees must excel in the following skill sets: leadership; strategic thinking and planning; partner/coalition building; innovation and service.

Commerce City's Recreation Supervisor/Athletics, Tim Moore, has been honored with this award September 22 at the annual CPRA conference held in Grand Junction. Tim has served the Commerce City community in a full time capacity for 30 years, but if you include part time service, that number jumps to 40 years! We congratulate Tim Moore on a truly remarkable achievement!
