Background:

For more than 60 years, the former Mile High Greyhound Park was a vibrant entertainment destination, drawing thousands of people from across Colorado. As an economic engine for the city, the park employed hundreds of residents and generated significant revenue for the city. When racing ended in 2008, visitors and activity in the area slowed. In order to determine the future of the site, the Commerce City Urban Renewal Authority (CCURA) purchased the property with the intent to redevelop the site as an economic engine for a new generation as anticipated by the Comprehensive Plan. The request to rezone the property to a vibrant mixed-use development, will allow for the vision in the Comprehensive Plan to come to fruition.
