Proclamation for Child Abuse Prevention Month

Summary and Background Information :

The proclamation recognizes April as Child Abuse Prevention Month and our partner Ralston House, a child advocacy center that served 1,225 children in 2017. Nationally, one in seven girls and one in 25 boys will be sexually abused before their 18th birthday. Ralston House Child Advocacy Center is a nationally-accredited nonprofit agency that helps children and teens who are suspected of being sexually or physically abused. They work with police departments, social services and district attorneys to provide forensic interviews, forensic sexual assault medical exams and support services. Comprehensive services at child-friendly Ralston House help child victims and their families begin the healing process after traumatic experiences.

CASA is a volunteer-based, nonprofit organization that trains and supervises community volunteers to represent the best interests of our most vulnerable citizens - child victims of physical, sexual or emotional abuse and neglect. CASA is fully staffed and ready to recruit, train and supervise the advocates needed to accomplish that great work, thanks to growing awareness and support from the community. The desired result is that children are placed into safe, loving homes where they can thrive. The Ralston House broke ground on their new facility on March 1, 2018 in Adams County where 52% of their cases occur.

Vanessa DeMott from Ralston House and CASA will be in attendance to accept the proclamation.
