Traffic Impact Study

Deputy Director Heather Vidlock introduced the case on behalf of staff.

Applicant Brad Holland of Urban Moment Development presented a proposal to amend the existing PUD to allow a horizontal multifamily residential project of approximately 227 units. Commissioners asked detailed questions about traffic impacts, parking, rents, market analysis, compatibility with the existing neighborhood, and alignment with the comprehensive plan.

Traffic concerns focused on how the study determined reduced trip generation compared to the existing commercial plus residential entitlement. Holland stated that HGS used ITE standard trip rates and compared allowed uses to the proposed development. Staff clarified that commercial uses typically generate higher AM/PM peak hour traffic.

Questions were also raised about whether commercial uses draw local trips while residential adds new vehicles; Holland said the analysis compared land use entitlements rather than trip origins.

Commissioners discussed parking (a mix of surface parking, carports, and about 40% detached garages rented separately) and the concept for a food truck style amenity area, which Holland described as preliminary and subject to refinement during the site plan process.

Rent projections for one bedroom units ($1,700–$1,800) and market comparisons were examined. Holland characterized the units as “attainable” market rate options and noted rents depend on supply and demand. The unit mix includes primarily one and two bedrooms with no studios and about 5% three bedrooms.

Concerns were raised about nearby residents who originally expected commercial and single family development based on the current PUD. Holland described proposed mitigations such as relocating drive aisles, enhancing buffers, and increasing setbacks. Staff emphasized that the existing PUD has been amended before and that notice requirements are designed to ensure transparency. Only one resident attended the in person neighborhood meeting.

The Commission discussed the proposal’s compatibility with the comprehensive plan, the need for housing diversity, impacts on economic vitality, and density compared to traditional single family homes. Staff stated the project supports housing diversity goals and adds rooftops that could improve long term retail viability. All internal streets would be privately maintained

A nearby resident opposed the project due to traffic concerns, particularly near a school. Holland clarified that Jasper Street would remain closed to the public and serve only emergency access.

Commissioner perspectives varied: some expressed concerns about loss of commercial land, traffic congestion, rental concentration, and neighborhood expectations; others supported the project due to limited commercial feasibility, added attainable housing, and benefits of developing the vacant parcel.

Commissioner Keefer moved to deny Case PUDA25-0003 based on failure to meet Criteria A and C.

Commissioner Shecter seconded the motion.

Deputy Director Heather Vidlock announced that the case will proceed to City Council, with first reading on May 18 and the public hearing (second reading) on June 15.

A motion was made by Alternate Commissioner Keefer, seconded by Commissioner Shecter, that the Planning Commission enter a finding that the requested PUD Amendment for the property located 10230 Chambers Road and 15955 E 101st Way contained in case PUDA25-0003 fails to meet the criteria of the Land Development Code and based upon such finding, recommend that the City Council deny the PUD Amendment. Ayes: 3 - Commissioner Shecter, Commissioner Eggleston and Alternate Commissioner Keefer

Nayes: 2 - Alternate Commissioner Nelson and Commissioner VanHeusen
